CORRELATIONS

- The heat map came in handy in viewing interactions between the numerical features.
- We then sought to look at the interactions of house prices and the other features.

MODELING AND REGRESSION ANALYSIS

We developed four regression models with the housing data and finally settled on a gradient boosting model.

The model had an accuracy score of 86% and an RMSE of 0.0172.

CONCLUSION

Factors influencing house pricing

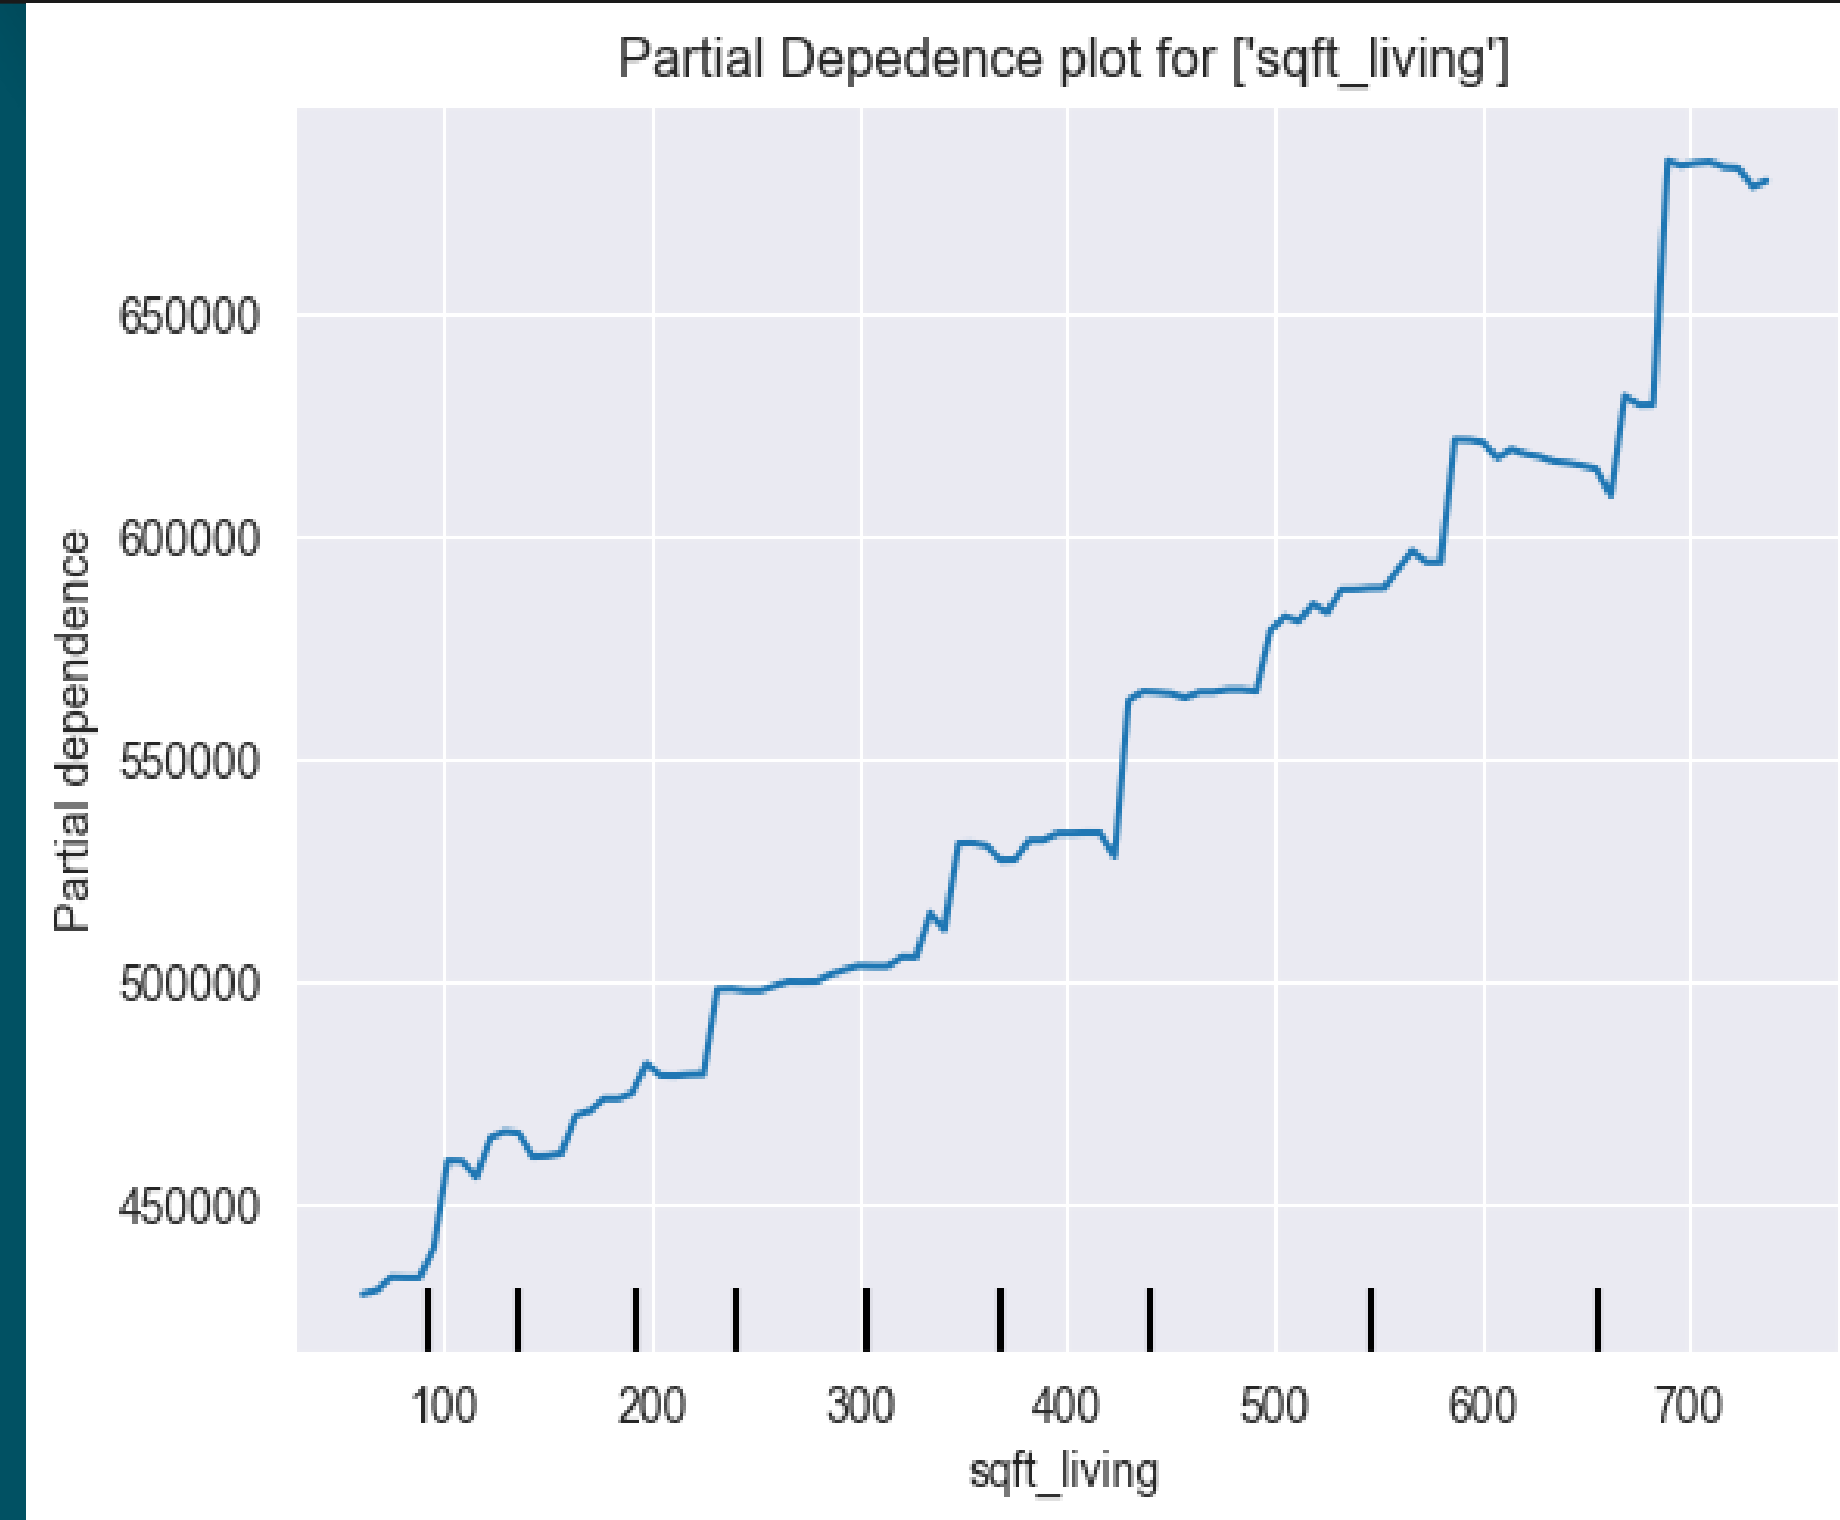

The following top four factors determine house pricing.

- The house grading.
- The presence or absence of waterfronts
- The living space.
- The age of the houses.

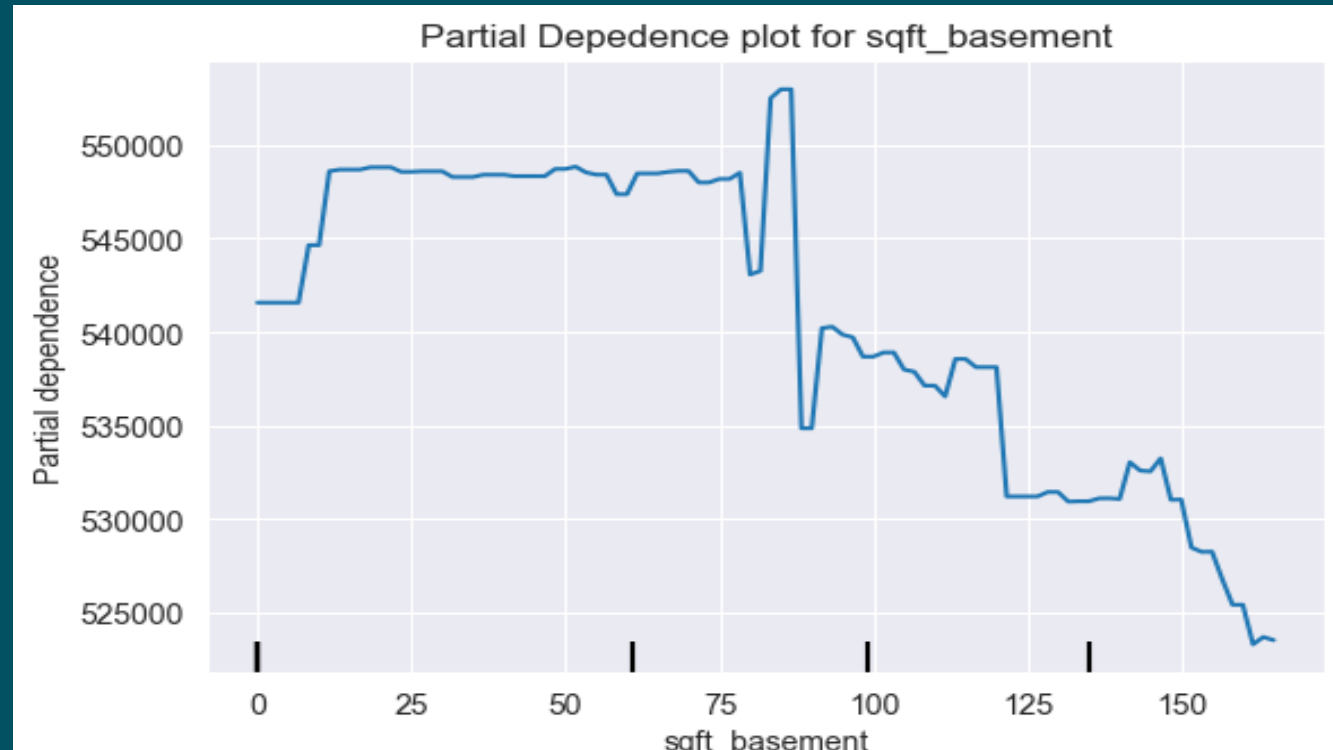

Factors influencing house pricing(Living Space)

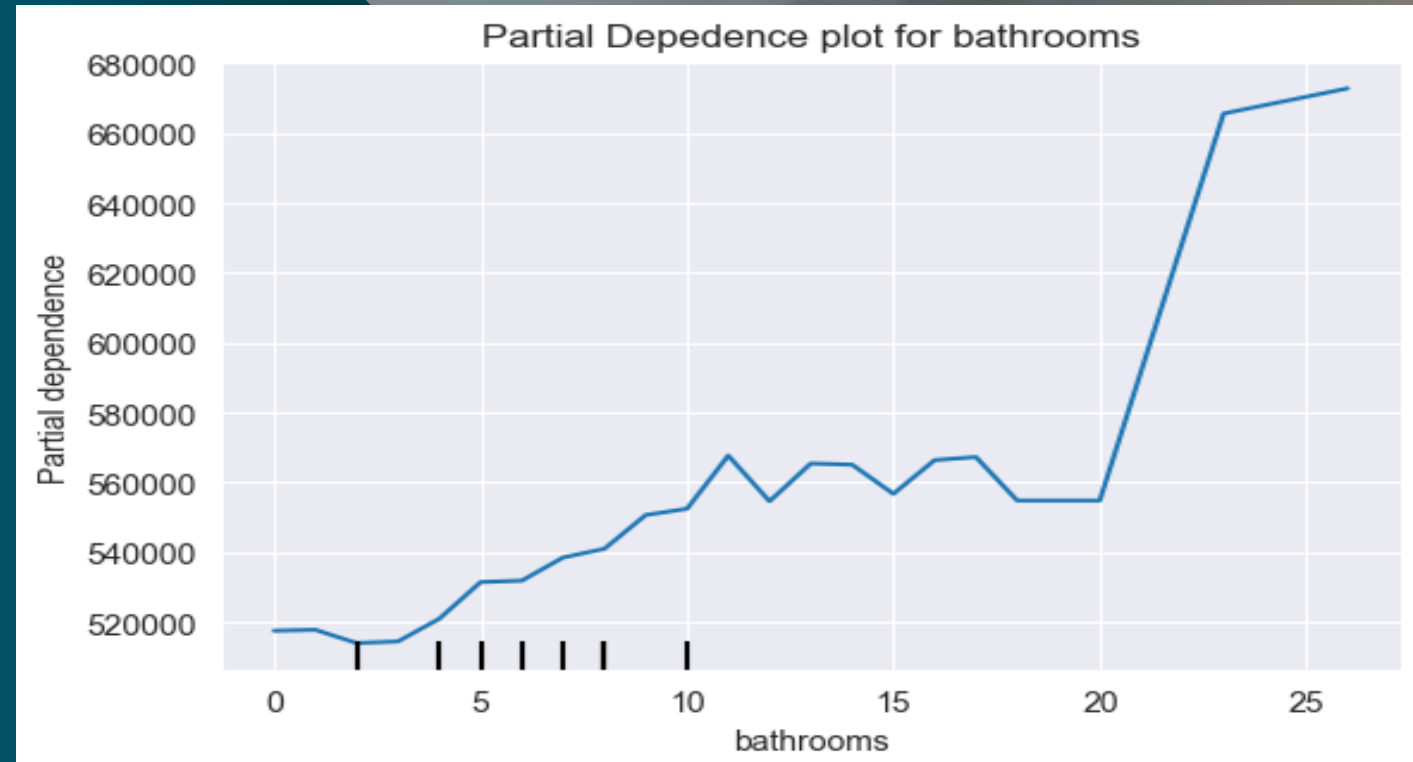

- Any increase of the living space has a direct impact on the prices of homes.
- A living space between 100 and 695sqft guarantees a good investment.

Factors influencing house pricing(Basement & bathroom)

- A basement of 75-80 square foot has high prices.

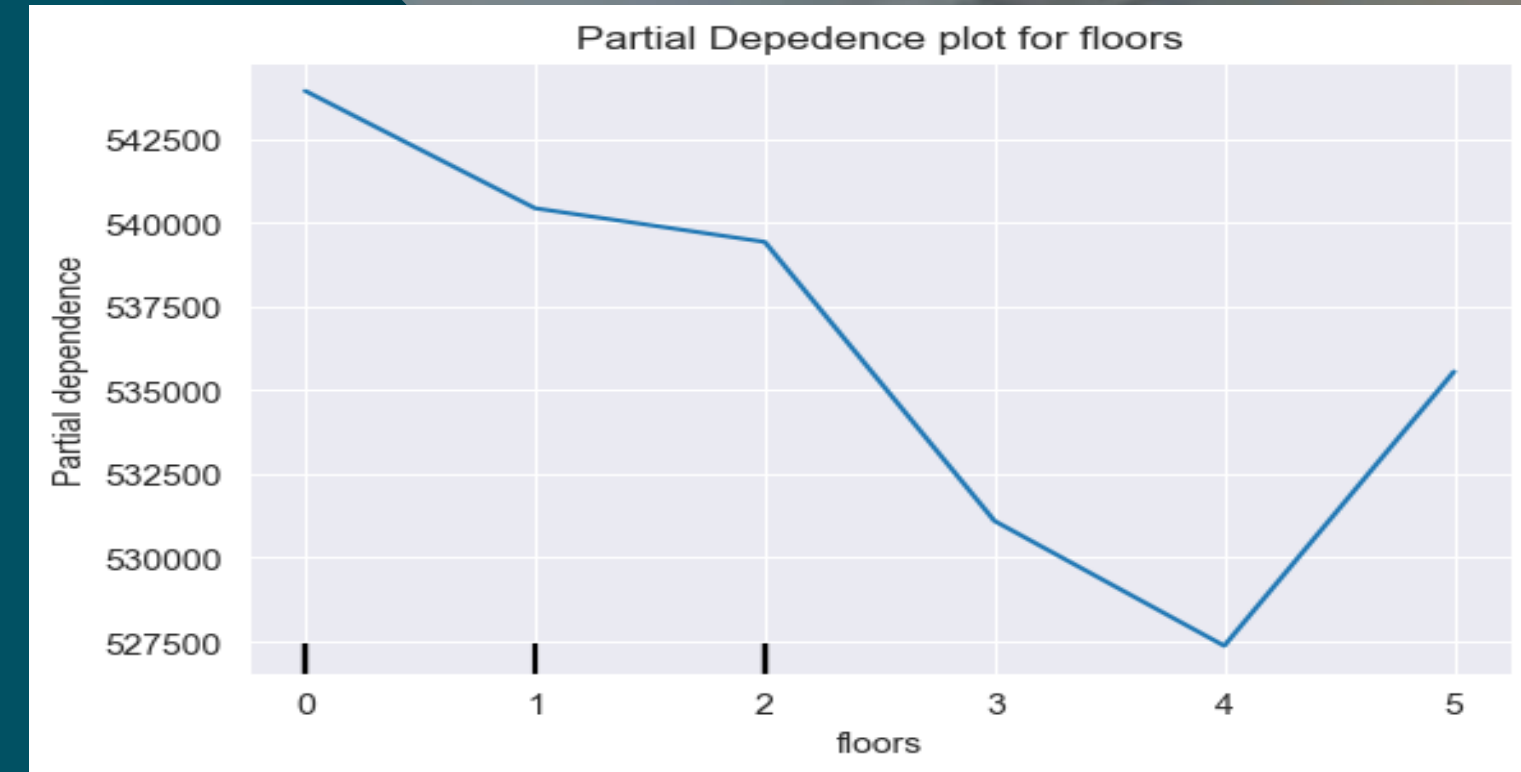

- The more the bathrooms, the higher the price.

Factors influencing house pricing(Bedrooms & Floors)

- The more the bedrooms, the higher the house pricing.

- More than four floors in houses attracts higher prices.

Factors influencing house pricing(Neighborhood)

- Investing in neighborhoods 69 and 38 guarantees a good investment.
